

How You Can Get Involved

Community Mentors (impact volunteering)

Are volunteers who want to get involved in supporting people with multiple needs to support them in their recovery. We are looking for people with lived experience or work experience who feel they have something to give, such as attending appointments, identifying meaningful activities and opportunities or being a listening ear and providing hope of an improved future. We would also love to hear from you if you have ideas about how you can help us achieve our outcomes for this exciting new project. In return we can provide training and opportunities to work across a wide sector of organisations, to be part of a trailblazing and exciting new team where you can learn new skills and build on your personal development.

Be part of our co-production group – “Working Together First” (WTF)

An opportunity to get involved in the design and development of both new and existing systems, to have a voice and be part of ensuring a more joined up collaborative system which puts people at the heart of their decisions.

System Change Action Alliance (SCAA)

Find out more about the System Change Action Alliance by visiting our website devonscaa.org to see how you can get involved.

Community Events

We will be holding community events where you can learn more about trauma informed approaches, so keep an eye out on our social media or SCAA website.
